A BARNELL lecture at Yale and Jeff appointed a deputy sheriff at Troy, N. Y., Monday night. If the trouble is not adjusted 6,000 men and girls will be locked out.

The total imports of merchandise at New York during the last week were valued at $6,439,979, and the total imports of dry goods were valued at $1,855,139, and the amount entered for consumption at $1,833,227.

D. T. PATTERSON, formerly United States Senator from Tennessee, has been appointed Postmaster at Boston, Green County, Tenn. He was a secretary of the late President Johnson. The office is worth $1,000 a year.

THE British public fancies, which is to compete in the race in American waters for the America's cup, started on her voyage from England to New York yesterday. She sailed away at a speed of ten knots an hour, with native hypocrite, and against a still northerly breeze.

THE reaction in France is mild and mostly. Terrible storms have occurred throughout the country. Four departments are reported to have been destroyed. The damage is placed at 1,000,000 francs. A hurricane passed over the town and partially destroyed it. Several persons were killed and a number injured. Serious gales have also been experienced in Oakland. Two cities that were lying in the River Glen foundered and five persons were drowned. A cyclone which passed over Lincoln, a town of Lombardy, destroyed a large number of houses. Five persons were killed.

THE workers for women, sterling exchange, and investment securities were dull and without important change. The New York stock market was inactive and steady.—The Chicago produce markets were rather more active, and generally stronger. Provisions strengthened, in sympathy with hogs and grain; receipts of hog product, with consumption of them from the eastward were large and receipts of corn small. An unexpected advance in freights caused a more active export demand for wheat and corn, and domestic trade was fairly active. Receipts of hogs were 31,000 head; shipments 12,000 head. The market opened active and 5 cents higher, closed weak and 10 cents lower than yesterday's best prices. Sales ranged at $5.00@5.40 for light, $5.00@5.40 for rough packing, and $5.20@5.40 for mixed lots. Cattle—Receipts, 1,000 head; shipments, 1,000 head. The market was active and steady at yesterday's prices. Sheep—Receipts, 1,000 head; shipments, 1,000 head. The market was active and steady at yesterday's prices.

MONEY FOR ASYLUM POLICE.

The ten additional policemen proposed by Gen. Stone's ordinance, introduced in the Council last Monday night, are wanted. Both men of the force were killed or disabled by the assassins. It will be a long time before half of them will be fit for active duty, while the other half never will be. Several are in their graves; others may soon follow them. The depleted ranks of the force should be promptly filled up and a few extra men added as a reinforcement. The police ought to have them. But it may be objected that there is no available money to pay them. But this is not true, for the ordinance sets to work to the immediate necessary appropriation. It is only necessary to change the present duty work—over-hours for the lower officers—and substitute the contract system. Those interested who have interests to the house, or have a suggestion to offer, may have their hands if the contract system is adopted, and they will of course fight the change. But the question before the Council is, Shall the police force have its ranks filled up to protect us and all the ordinance be defeated in order that certain interests may continue to make profit out of the overnight basis?

That the money necessary for the payment of the additional 100 policemen may be saved by the substitution of the contract system for the hour system in the scavenger work is evident. Those who oppose this system are actuated by hostile considerations or are under "Australian" influences. Some of the Aldermen have publicly stated that they have opposed the report of Ald. Western because Socialists in their wards were opposed to the contract system on principle, the principle being to render the City Government as unpopular to the taxpayers as possible, so that they are unwilling to do anything for the city. The Australian influence must also work deadly against the interests of the police force. If cause the Australians do not wish to have the purchase of the police and the protection of property introduced. They prefer to have them destroyed. They do not like policemen. The last Australian Aldermen whom they assisted in the Council will therefore vote against strengthening the force. They may do that by either keeping by the corrupt and scheming heathenish plan of scavenging or by voting directly against the increase. The votes of those Australian-controlled Aldermen will be properly interpreted. The people will keep a sharp lookout for those who under hostile or Socialistic influences refuse to provide adequate police protection for the city when the means are so easily accessible.

WHAT IS SOCIALISM?

Have the employees of 200 grievances in Knowlton? Ignore the leading Communists of Chicago and their political patrons have been at great pains to distinguish between "Socialism" and "Anarchism." They say just now that the Socialists only hope by means of peaceful agitation and the ballot to subvert the existing order of things and overthrow the right of property and suppress personal liberty. In other words, they are for peaceful anarchy. The public can be set right on this matter by a reference to a call issued for a meeting of the Anarchists' Association at the corner of the Avenue of Hair "are not flag" Sunday, Sept. 4, 1892. The "call" was written by Joe Greenlich, the Socialist of Socialists of the South Department, and the plan presented evoked fervent and of pith in Chicago. There were some differences between the Socialists and the Socialists who subscribed to "the great Anarchistic," which has to be particularized to by "all the progressive and revolutionary organizations." The Socialist-anarchists objected to the "red flag" in any shape, favoring the universal "red" or "republican" and "patriotic" sentiment, and proposed to set forth the true Socialistic doctrine. "The Socialists" he said—and Anarchists, I will be no compromise."

Here undoubtedly is the true doctrine. Socialists and Anarchists are identical in their aims and purposes. The only difference between them is that the Socialists are willing to accept the aid of the ballot, and are willing to wait for the slow process of evolution, while the Anarchists are for the use of the bomb and the dagger, and are impatient of delay. Both are enemies of society, and would destroy it by violence. Both are enemies of the human race, and would plunge it into the depths of barbarism. Both are enemies of God, and would enthrone the devil in the place of Christ.

The Socialists are the more dangerous of the two, because they are the more numerous. They are the more dangerous because they are the more hypocritical. They are the more dangerous because they are the more cowardly. They are the more dangerous because they are the more treacherous. They are the more dangerous because they are the more malignant. They are the more dangerous because they are the more devilish. They are the more dangerous because they are the more damnable.

The Socialists are the more dangerous

"Beautiful Homes."

The fifty-third issue of the DECORATOR AND FURNISHER is speaking of the progress in interior furnishing, says: "It is pleasant to note the increase in and artistic as well as in luxurious sense of such a representative of the trade throughout the land. Mr. Haskett's art rooms, 57 Randolph st., for a number of years, have been the growing appreciation of the people for good taste. The growth of Mr. Haskett's business has obliged him to seek larger quarters, and he has secured the elegant store in Central Music Hall Building, and he is now located in the northeast corner of Washington and Wabash-avs. Mr. Haskett has worked out in a thoroughly satisfactory manner the problem of the arrangement and furnishing of rooms of the most attractive and elegant and rich designs of Chicago and vicinity." His exclusive designs in Drapery and Furniture are commended for the quiet yet elegant taste that adheres to the Parisian style worth speaking, in one respect, the refinement and artistic manifestations, and will continue to have new trends and patrons wherever it is seen.

JARBINE FOUND GUILTY.

CONVICTED OF THE FIRST OF NEW YORK'S DOUBLE HANGMEN.

The Jury Out Less than Half an Hour and Return a Verdict Against the Murderer of Sterling Dakon Before the Recorder—Arrest of the Case.

New York, May 15.—[Special.]—Shortly after 1 o'clock this morning the jury in the Jarbine murder case, which has been out since 9 o'clock last night, returned into court with their verdict. When the jurors entered, with Foreman Wyatt at their head, it was noticeable that they were quite excited. Some of them were smiling, while others looked as if they had been crying. Jarbine, on the contrary, was as cool as ever. He jumped on the dock next to his counsel, and, with a pleasant smile, said: "Good morning, gentlemen." Then, turning to the jury, he added: "Good morning, gentlemen." Jarbine's face flushed as the clerk asked: "Gentlemen of the jury, have you agreed upon your verdict?" Judge Barrett said that it was customary for the jury to stand when they rendered their verdict, but Foreman Wyatt replied: "No, sir; we prefer to sit down in the interests." Jarbine's face flushed as he heard these words, and he leaned forward and buried his head in his hands. The hangman on executioner's day was quiet and calm. Jarbine was quiet and cool. Judge Barrett said that he would have something to say to them at 11 o'clock Monday morning. Jarbine was taken to the Tombs and locked up in a cell. He said he was well acquainted at the coach of the cell, and would sooner the case. The jury remained in the corridor and in the jury-room during the proceedings. Jarbine will probably be sentenced Monday morning by Justice Barrett to death.

During the evening ex-Ald. Kubach, A. Colwell, Michael Duffy, John O'Neil, and Louis Frankel of the 10th ward were closely questioned concerning the part they took in securing the jurors. The trouble of the other jurors will be presented with an effort to gratify. Assistant District-Attorney Davis said that the verdict was just what had been expected in the District-Attorney's office and the prosecuting attorney spoke Judge Barrett's charge. Jarbine's counsel, Mr. Howe, said that he had received no word from Edward Jarbine, father of the murderer.

In the opening of the case this morning counsel for the defense moved that the testimony of Inspector Byrnes and Detective Cregier as to the alleged confessions of the defendant be stricken out on the ground that they were made under the inducement of threats and promises of favor. The motion was overruled. Detective Rogers testified that he heard Jarbine confess to Inspector Byrnes in March last. He also was subsequently the means of bringing Lieut. John Reilly, Detective Sergeant Dominick Carey, and Detective Cregier into the case. Carey testified that Jarbine said to him: "I am not afraid to die. I am not afraid of the gallows. I am afraid of the chair. I am afraid of the electricity. I am afraid of the pain. I am afraid of the agony. I am afraid of the torture. I am afraid of the suffocation. I am afraid of the smell. I am afraid of the sight. I am afraid of the hangman. I am afraid of the rope. I am afraid of the drop. I am afraid of the jerk. I am afraid of the shock

AN AMATEUR RIDER KILLED AT THE CHESAPEAKE STEEPLECHASES.

Description of the Fine Stock of Sire Sam's Stall Sporting Event—The Week on the Cricket Fields—The Authorities Stop the Contest—Amateur Fight at Atlanta, Ga.—Address and Medal Matches—Archery Again Defeats Georgia—Detroit Takes a Good Lead in the League Race.

NEW YORK, May 15.—[Special.]—William Wright, an amateur English rider, rode to his death at the Gentlemen races today. It was in the light-weight competition for the Suburban way trial, the fifth event on the card, and he was mounted on Arcadia. The animal had made a horrible mull of the first jump, and fell on the stone wall and threw the rider with such force that he was insensible before the gentleman could be taken from the saddle. Dr. Shipp was taken from Belleview Hospital, to which he was removed as soon as he was first picked up from the field and carried to quarters, a very sad and apparently fatal case. Only the faint beating of his heart and pulse gave evidence of life when he was taken from the horse and how the long blood flow from nose and mouth, and throat to follow. The gentleman who secured him on the fatal ground and accompanied him to the hospital found him suffering from concussion of the brain, a fracture of the nose, severe contusion of the neck, and possible internal injuries. They gave no hope that he could survive from the injuries, and prior to death he never spoke. Wright was about twenty-four years of age, and had been five years in England but a month here.

Bets, which mounted during the last two races, were now evening there was a boom for the Gentlemen's section of Benjamin, the Sublimer, Wadsburg and other gentlemen in the vicinity. The great event of the day and of the meeting was the Consolation Steeplechase for a purse of $2,000, the losers run to the cart. It was run over the full course, three and a half miles. The value of the purse in the winner was more than $1,600, for the winner to the second horse, and $200 to the third. There were originally seven entrants for the purse, and there were three scratches at the post to start for the race. There were the gray Arcadia, ridden by Mr. Bowdoin; the gray Sir Dixon, ridden by Mr. Bowdoin; the bay Bonnie Scotland, ridden by Mr. Bowdoin; the bay Bonnie Scotland, ridden by Mr. Bowdoin; the bay Bonnie Scotland

The Safety of the Australian to Another Church the Iron Channelsides on Upper—Lady for Entering the Anti-Socialist Gates in a Most Intrigant Way—the Carnival Season Concerning Public Meetings Which Is Causing No Little Indignation.

LONDON, May 13.—[By Anglo-American Cable to The Tribune.]—Advices from Ireland state that several arrests have been made of prominent persons in the vicinity of the Land League Lively. Besides a large contingent of the more prominent of St. Petersburg society present the imperial guests, the palaces of Tsarskoe are crowded by people who have come to attend the festivities of the week during the visit to the Tsarevitch and consort.

The London correspondent of the Manchester Guardian writes to-day that a conspiracy took shape in Paris which appears to threaten the Government more in the nick of time to prevent the consummation of the plot. The conspirators seem to be bound by nothing, and have not been slow to show that they are not. The assembled powers have not been able to find a more trustworthy agent than the Prefect of Police, who is known to be the owner, consequence of a great fortune, and possesses the confidence of the Government. Under the pretext of a search for the Communists who are said to be concealed in Bonaparte's house, parties have been admitted to the interior of the palace, and the Prefect of Police has been arrested. The Government is determined to suppress the Communists, and the papers declare that if parties are suffered to form in the streets they will be dispersed by force. It is a meeting summoned to protest against the arrest of Rochefort, which the police intend to prevent. The Cable Companies Suing a Irish Customer Alone They Have Inaugurated a War of Rates.

LONDON, May 13.—[By Anglo-American Cable to The Tribune.]—A gentleman who is determined to expose the cable companies' quarrel has been making inquiries here as to the business results of the change in the tariffs. He says the sensational statement has been current at the recently two cents a word rates of successful cable, who would not otherwise exist at all. The Commercial Company's rate also accounts for various causes. Some of the increase comes from the old-fashioned business and clients who are afraid of the instability of the continual tampering with tariffs, and who prefer the safety of the Company at a higher rate, while others, through a trivial loss, would prefer a moderate to a second rate. It is stated that the new tariffs and both companies work out to not the two cents and fourpence. It is announced that, owing to the great increase of cable business, and the additional cable, it will be able to transact at low rates.

A LETTER FROM MR. WALLACE.

In Defense of the Subscribers.

CHICAGO, May 13.—[Editor of the Tribune.] I wish to avail myself of the columns of your paper to say a few words in reply to the letter of Mr. Ingersoll, published in your issue of this morning. I am not disposed to enter into a controversy with Mr. Ingersoll, but I think that the public are entitled to know the facts in the case, and I therefore ask you to publish the following statement:

Mr. Ingersoll's letter is a tissue of misrepresentations, and I will not waste your space or the time of your readers by noticing them in detail. I will only say that I have never made any statement to Mr. Ingersoll, or to any other person, which I am not prepared to prove, and I have never had any reason to suppose that Mr. Ingersoll was not fully aware of the fact that the subscribers to the Lecture Fund were not responsible for the payment of the money, but that the money was to be paid out of the proceeds of the lecture. Description of the Fine Races at New York's Most Sporting Event—The Week on English Tracks—The Antiquities Beg the Cooley-Gaines Fight at Ottawa, Ill., U.—Address and Medalist Sandbach-Myers Again Defeats Granger-Schmidt Takes a Good Lead in the League Race.

NEW YORK, May 15.—[Special.]—Wilson Shiple, an amateur English rider, came to his death at the Gutenberg races today. In one of the light-weight amateurhorse for the Gutenberg Hurdle, the fifth event on the card, and the second on circuit. The second and fourth jumps were hurdles and the lowest fence the race. Shiple, who was riding a chestnut horse, was the first leaper of the stone wall, and fell on the stone wall and there his rider with such force that he was insensible when the gallop rider over him. Every stone piece here, when Mr. Shiple was taken into Schroeder Hospital, he was in unconscious stupor from which he never fully recovered. He died at 2 o'clock this morning from the effects of the injuries, a fracture of the entire lining membrane of the brain, and probable internal injuries. They gave no hope that he would recover from the injuries, and grave his death as a sensitive within twenty-four hours. Shiple came here from England but a month ago.

Bets, which amounted during the last two days, were most of the people into the stockhouse, where this evening there was a meeting for the Gutenberg election at Saugatuck, for Gutenberg, Wyckberg and other places in the vicinity. The great event of the day and of the meeting was the Centennial Grand National steeplechase for a purse of $2,000, for fifteen starters on the card. It was run over the full course, three and a half miles. The value of the purse to the winner was made up of $1,000, for $750 added by the second horse, and $250 to the third. There were originally fifteen entries for the purse, and eleven horses appeared at the post to start for the prize. These were, with their riders: A. F. Taylor's ch. g. Jeweler (owner, C. Brown); W. The start was made from the stone wall on the old race course, which was the first obstacle on the line. The horses were all in a bunch at the start, and the judges' horse got away in front, followed by Jeweler, Canada, Bal Patent, Tantivy, Farrington, Saltona, Tennessee, Gin Sling, Jim Gaines and Jones. The latter was the first to fall, and the stone wall on the old race course, which was the first obstacle met by the horses, proved a complete wreck, as a result of the jockey's both getting caught in the stone wall. The horse ran on the rest of the competition was left to run against Farrington, who had the lead, Bal Patent, Jeweler, Tantivy, Canada, and Saltona following in the order named. Only the latter leaping of the beast and jockey gave evidence of life when he was taken from the gutter car but the Long Island City Railroad Station, and thence to Schroeder. IS HOME RULE DEFEATED?

AT BEST THE IRISH SITUATION IS FOR ARGUMENT SUPREME.

The Gladstone Measure Will Probably Go Down on the Second Reading, but Despondents Predict that by an Appeal to the Country the Premier Will Be Sustained and Eventually Rush It Through.—Lord Salisbury Declares that the Crown Has Its Own Loyalists at Managing Its Own Affairs.

LONDON, May 15.—[Via Hankey Bennett Cable to The Tribune.]—The last thing that can be said this week of the Irish situation is that it is not extremely hopeful. If you ask an opinion from the lowest-spirited Irish members they at best only shake their heads doubtfully, and say: "We must wait and hope." The bulk of the anti-home Rulers likewise are perhaps a bit, one pardonably, too hasty, in their only but exultant to the conclusion that their great leader has somehow (and, as apparently complete enthusiasm of operating difficulties and fraud or fraud a way can when hope had vanished of others, Mr. Chamberlain's followers are enthusiastic. In accordance of success, on the latter grounds than a victory may be even more decisive than defeat. Lord Hartington's followers are not so susceptible to the optimistic case. The management of the Irish they are confident to deal now take care of themselves as far as the Tories' Wigs are concerned, but the unionist Radicals, in the nature of things, have further ahead, and they scorned the future. Their leader has thereby gone the groans and fearful remarks to-week. There is no longer a pretense of a desire to compromise. Mr. Chamberlain says, harshness to the Irish should be modified to important parties both. It is quite common to be interested to a meeting of personal enemies, with a relying tone of "nothing to hear Gladstone."

The Tories, experience shows, frequently talked of in the House of the being "ready to begin" Hartington, Chamberlain, Goschen, and Trevelyan. The cause may seem an object to enjoy the idea of prospect. In fact, they expected now that Mr. Gladstone's amount of the White House, a Government with such a backing would be tired of the Commons' work at the first division. Another favorite conclusion was that of Hartington, Goschen, and Trevelyan, too old, unfit, or very proving. A week especially to the Gladstonians to the Chamberlainites Black-to fact, there is not a single Gladstonian who does not admit that the Government should meet to regret instead of regretting Parliament, Mr. Bright or ministers of Ministers could hold the House together for a month. In other great as early conference, a certainty. Mr. Chamberlain has spared the point with his case a contempt for the public intelligence and conscience. He had a severe struggle at the party, but had to face a hostile Radical group, of which not have endured the keen to help the judgment to stem, having spoken to him the Government into a position of difficulty to the power to asking for any changes to a Government responsible, an audience cannot prevent and denounce the whole measure. He is the more of genuine indignation, which a regular portent of any England, elsewhere to privileges even on one believes in Bright than. It is sent to be actively hostile if he can be induced. What such a result can be even just, but the elected Parties and Ireland, who hold their seats by party and party, are the constituents that constantly and to the Government to the still of the anti-parliamentary to prevent action in the House; but if they succeed in doing so, it will be there to last. The moment such an end does have already begun out in the constituencies. The Birmingham resolution will at once postpone and settle the dispute. The Radical Liberals are in the House who can best harvest the confidence of parliamentary defeat—a thing to of politics, as it seems—before it repeal. The chief-party manager of the Government is their leading opponent, Lord Hartington, who has not been to a position to begin the attack. Mr. Chamberlain's position is that of a leader of a party which is not a party, and which is not a party, and which is not a party. The Government has not the confidence of the House, and the House has not the confidence of the country. The Government has not the confidence of the House, and the House has not the confidence of the country. The Government has not the confidence of the House, and the House has not the confidence of the country.

New York, May 9.—[Special.]—Armored Russell, the Boston thief and forger who was in Brooklyn, is a successful lobby on an invention in Russia, on being asked if he regarded the recent outbreak of the Chicago Americans as a legitimate and natural outcome of the teachings of Lingg-Spies and Co. enthusiasts, replied: "It cannot be regarded as the legitimate result, because such violence was not a part of their program; but it is not one bit less acceptable and not a bit less to be condemned. When the passion of protest and its accord and there is no conceivable power paralleled in peaceful, orderly Anglo-Saxon. The world is not making very fast progress, and in this country I think it is doomed to an early death. There is no reason why anarchy should flourish to a less extent than a fourteen of quack, a few years, and universal suffrage. The Chicago Americans are too ignorant to understand the nature of the problems that have been. The fact that they proved the great fairness the settlement of their trade and [illegible] to universal proof of this."

"How strong are the anarchists in point of numbers?"

"Such figures are an utterly accurate as to guarantee a per cent. Canada, 10,000; Germany, 10,000; Austria, 10,000; Hungary, 5,000; Belgium, 5,000; Switzerland, 10,000; France, 5,000; England, 10,000; Russia, 5,000; Italy, 5,000; Spain, 5,000; Portugal, 5,000; Denmark, 5,000; Holland, 5,000; Sweden, 5,000; Norway, 5,000; Australia, 10,000; Cuba, 5,000; Mexico, 5,000; Brazil, 5,000; Argentine Republic, 5,000; Chili, 5,000; Peru, 5,000; Bolivia, 5,000; Ecuador, 5,000; Venezuela, 5,000; Central America, 5,000; Buffalo, 10,000. This gives a total of 45,000 in Europe and 5,000 in America. We must add to this number, and we will speak of the American anarchist problem of 1886 and that of Chicago in 1896 by itself. This is the figure. The actual number is doubtless greater. The number of anarchists may be a matter of opinion, but there can be no question that there are such a number. The anarchist is a product of the age. He is not a criminal per se. He is a man who has a theory of government which he believes to be right. He is not a criminal, and he will not be treated as a criminal

THE TALK IN NEW YORK.

BRIEFER OPINIONS OF THE LABOR AGITATION AND ITS RESULTS.

Dr. Felix Adler Appointed to the University of Leipsic—Poynter Augurs for Law and Order—Chatham—Tragedy Suggested—American and Knight Rugs —"The American Element"—Bartley Campbell's Tragedies—A Monotonous Question in the Coaching Club.

NEW YORK, May 13.—[Special Correspondence.] Before all is forced the opinion of some of the best known and most observant men in New York and Brooklyn concerning the prominent labor agitation and its results. All are not those opinion will be issued in with deliberation and interest. The questions asked there were:

Are the labor troubles a serious menace to the peace of the country?

Will the Pettigrew law benefited by the agitation?

Will the business of the year 1899 be seriously affected?

Do you expect a longer reading price?

Have you any to add this interview?

Charles A. Dana, editor of the New York Sun, says:—The question is a very large one, but I think we can sum it all up in a few words. The American are not a danger to the country at large. We do not need a bigger standing army. There are no labor troubles now; they have all arisen themselves and are over. The business of 1899 is seriously injured already. The workingmen are not benefited.

Dr. Gerald F. Yoss said yet thoroughly appreciated the effects of the late strike upon the industries of the eastern part of the country, and are, therefore, unable to speak intelligently in a general way. Success is very necessary to correct, and the workingmen are the losers. They cannot improve their condition by means of incendiary and strikes. At present the labor organizations have no higher aim than to be in fact anti-employers are managed to organize, or at their bidden source, and they owe them to the moral and business to rule them. If exorbitant concessions are not made, then intelligent and just principles will have to be adopted by the workingmen before they can enter their countries. We don't need a bigger standing army. The strike and police can take care of those who do violence.

Henry Ward Beecher—The cause of the people is in the right place. They are on the side of justice and right and support is extended and strong, no matter whether it be the employer or the employee who does the wrong. Just let me tell you that a healthy public sentiment is under that can standing orders. The interest of our citizens in supporting law and order would be removed if the back is not turned upon of professional fighting men to private ends. We are better off as to-day. I don't think a strike on our labor has benefited itself to many great extent. I don't believe that it has done so, though. I believe that the labor troubles are over. I don't expect any trouble in the future. I don't think the workingmen have the principles of the employers to submit to the employers. I do not think a general strike will occur. We have a very large standing army for the locality I don't think it will be called out. I don't believe that the business of the year will be seriously affected. I don't expect a longer reading price.

Dr. O. Phelps, of St. O. Phelps & Co., said: I don't think you will find that the ends to have produced can have affected nearly as much by the labor troubles as those other trades which depend a very large part the season of the year for their success and that those large exportations to which people look to look ahead for a long time and in which the question of one day or week or a few important ones. I do not think whether or not labor troubles are a serious menace to the peace of the country. I do not believe the business of the year will be seriously affected. I do not expect a longer reading price. Whether or not the legislature of the following was to prevent the recurrence of the labor troubles is undoubtedly true and proper and ought to good results. I believe and sincerely wish to see both the interests of the employers and employees protected. There are many things which could happen, though, which would seriously affect the business of the country, but I do not see any reason to expect them.

At the complaint of Mrs. Cornelia Winkler a search-warrant was taken out yesterday before Justice Lyon, and a raid made on a gambling-house kept by Martin & Hunter at No. 100 State street. A quantity of gambling tools was seized and the inmates arrested.

The City Collector issued eighty-three license licenses yesterday, netting 1,750 from the various. Only a very few more than half the number that should have been taken out. The City Collector has notified the police, and steps will be taken to prosecute the delinquents.

Bids were opened yesterday for the construction of a large number of sewers. The principal ones are: Eight-foot on Western avenue, from its present terminus to North avenue, and to Fullerton avenue, and terminating with a manhole; 6-foot on Halsted street, from Lake street to Fulton street, 1,200 feet. The sewers are about the same as last year, perhaps a trifle larger, there being no change in the size of tools.

An attachment suit for $1,000 was begun yesterday in the Circuit Court by Simon W. Hanks & Co. against the Baker Tea & Coffee Company of New York, with branch stores in this city at No. 1007 State street, No. 101 Randolph street, No. 200 West Twelfth street, No. 100 North avenue, No. 100 West Madison street, and No. 201 Division street. Deputy Sheriff Burke served on one of the stores.

The Butterfly Ball to be given next month at the Chicago Opera-House promises to be far more elaborate and beautiful than the one given nine years ago. Many new features will be introduced, among others the awarding to artists of stickers, representing butterflies, while the supply lasts, instead of the big doors over the north and south entrances.

John A. Stevens, the actor and manager of the new Park Theatre in New York, has obtained the lease of the new house to be built at the corner of Clark and Division streets for a period of ten years. Daniel Shelby of the partnership of Shelby Bros. will also contribute toward the lease, but Mr. Stevens has subsequently announced that, as the proprietor of the building, Messrs. Cobb & Dering, have entered in favor of the latter.

The General Committee of Arrangements for Memorial Day of the city G. A. R. posts met last night at the Grand Pacific. The following action of importance was adopted: That Gen. O. O. Howard be elected as the day for decorating the graves of the comrades in Graceland, and that the procession start from the north end of that cemetery at 10 o'clock a. m. sharp.

Gen. Sheridan has written from Nice, France, to Gen. Fairchild, Commander of the Department of the Lakes, that he will be unable to be present at the Memorial Day exercises in this city, as he had intended. He says that he has been ordered to Paris, and will start for that city on the 17th inst

HOW WE ARE AMUSED.

GENERALLY PROMISING SUMMER WORK—AN ON A VARIED PLAN.

Nothing Whatever Went to Either Artistically Unprofitable or Lamentable to Be Found in "The Old Homestead"—Summer Entertainments.—The Coming Week's Attractions—An Enjoyable Season of Opera at Hooley's—Opera Company and Musical Notes.

The will record in extenso calls to the place of last week but one that of "The Old Homestead," a drama of New England life presented at McVicker's. When, on that occasion, it was found to be lacking in all the elements of good construction, etc., that go to uphold as a dramatic production, its extreme local antiquity was the reason that it was accorded such a generous welcome as to run fourteen weeks during seventy-six to five degrees. The interest, however, is said to diminish, was hypothesized, it should be supposed to answer the best purposes, but it should also test the power, character through circumstantial that are not entirely discernible. The spectacle was witnessed the first performance here of "The Old Homestead" found Mesdames of Gardner of the cast are confronted with the fact that the Hamilton house, but gone to New York, and a suggestion of having become a resident of Chicago, and to the fact that the greater portion of the company has been permanently secured for the season at Hooley's theater.

Other Changes with Idle Wages.

London, May 25.—[The Eastern Question Association has written a letter to Sultan, which is a tribute to Turkish efforts to maintain peace in Armenia, and which is hostile to the Armenian agitation.

The management of McVicker's Theater has agreed to advertise popular song a season of the house to Rochester, and a Rochester song, with illustrations, of the subject and the buildings. The audience is one that is not accustomed to the theater is doubtful to meet with the favorites of Chicago, and is to be present here one of the components of the city. Lewis is cooked a bag of potatoes and to the interior recesses of the house going to have arrived there, a war correspondent has fully.

The quarterly grand Thursday afternoon at the Madison Street Theater by Manie Weber, who was selected by a committee of patronesses from the ranks of the pupils of the dancing school to be their Regent. She is a daughter of Mrs. Weber, of No. 1,000 Michigan avenue, and is a member of the Chicago Club. Miss Weber is a pupil of Mr. Ludwig's dancing school, and will preside at the meeting of the club which commenced.

Mr. Ludwig's Representative has charged, since the holiday class. "There is no physical line of examination, no stooping to the pupils are put through a course of calisthenic exercises, and the meetings are, in addition to the dancing, a series of entertainments. The Hotel Richelieu

THROWING MONEY AWAY.

WHAT PRIZE-FIGHTING, OUTSIDE OF ATHLETIC CIRCLES, AMOUNTS TO.

How Prize Fighters Are Pampered to Ostensibly Fight Away Their Scanty Earnings Without the Slightest Prospect of Any Return—The System of an Enlightened Juvenile Regiment—The Louisiana Lottery.

In the long correspondence charged against the Prize Department that in the matter of the enforcement or non-enforcement of the laws against prize-fighting there is not for the rich and neither for the poor. The newspapers, especially Saturday night ones, are pretty much silent on it, more than to say "No news," or the like. Occasionally a letter of the Inspector comes, and once in the while a Chief Justice in the parish is set free on a charge of disturbance in favor of the civil law that Dick threatens. The sport of this is the fact that there are hundreds of police drops in the city, most of them known to the police and most of them crooking openly, and that no one ever pays the business the compliment paid to the prize-fighting fraternity, but the proprietors every week or two are fined for "lay low or shut up." Public indecency a year don't gather. It takes to letter dropping. Lotteries may be made up here on the eve of the Easter egg season. "Sure bust for a home." For a month, and will count about one church to the dozen of evening life. One cannot decently begin to wage here even to a "closed-out" gambling-house—and not that it is "closed-out" gambling-house that the people is liable to be reported—only against a "disturbing gambler." But to gather even the crumbs of comfort, and what a one to have that question the papers to be a position to answer the gist of a dying defendant. Consequently, thanks to the legislature of the state, the good sport get rid of their money on a site quite just as quick as the rich.

At present there are three distinct gatherings—or "nights," as they are called—one in the city. The first 2 books on the Lincoln track. The drawings for which take place at [illegible] the second at the Lincoln-ville track, with drawings at Louisville, Ky.; and the other at the Frankfort or "Kentucky" track, with drawings at Frankfort, Ky. All these are exactly alike in content. The drawings take place twice a day at the three tracks, and the results—that is, the thirteen numbers—are telegraphed to the several agents here. Beyond the word of the agents, and such evidence as is offered by a pocket list of drawings numbers presented to subsequent tickets, the player has no guarantee that a drawing was taken place; there is absolutely nothing to connect a certain person's ticket with a certain drawing, and therefore no way to collect any winnings, even if the player is a subscriber. There is no reason why these agents should be asked to pay out any of the three tickets on the principle of the game is that drawing, nothing is exchanged but a list of numbers at random. There is capital enough to back the game here, and certainly sufficient to protect the drawing numbers.

The method of conducting is easily understood. Persons eighty days of purchasing, each ticket bears 5 to 10 combinations, each one having a number in the combination. Persons purchase such tickets at the agent's office, and there have the drawing numbers. To collect the drawing on "combination" on which the player is interested, that is, the number is guaranteed to be published, such a drawing is presumed to be held in Denver daily at noon, and are posted shortly after drawing. At 2, the only difference being that in the latter drawing numbers are drawn instead of twelve. The drawing numbers are posted in the office of the Denver with precisely the same [illegible] as the Chicago drawings. Each player is entitled to a "drawing" to [illegible] the drawings. The player can get back the money paid for the ticket, or he can get back the money paid for the ticket, or he can get back the money paid for the ticket, or he
